

Pitchonix

Pitchonix is a modern business publishing platform for creating professional presentations, reports, proposals, and branded business documents with advanced visual layouts, templates, and multi-format export tools.

The Problem

What challenge are we addressing?

Businesses and teams struggle to create professional presentations and business documents quickly and consistently. Existing tools are either too limited, too design-focused, or not built for structured business publishing workflows, leading to inefficient collaboration, inconsistent branding, time-consuming editing, and low-quality outputs.

Our Solution

Title: Pitchonix Subtitle: The Operating System for Business Documents Tagline: From idea to investor-ready content in minutes

Pitchonix provides a unified business publishing platform that combines professional document creation, advanced visual layouts, structured workflows, reusable templates, brand management, collaboration tools, and multi-format export capabilities into one seamless workspace, enabling teams to create polished, consistent, and presentation-ready business content faster and more efficiently.

- Pitchonix provides a unified business publishing platform that combines professional document creation
- advanced visual layouts
- structured workflows
- reusable templates
- brand management
- collaboration tools

Market Opportunity

TAM • SAM • SOM

TAM: $45B global market across business productivity, presentation software, document publishing, and collaborative work platforms.

SAM: $12B serviceable market focused on startups, agencies, SMEs, consultants, and enterprise teams using modern business publishing and presentation tools.

SOM: $250M initial obtainable market targeting digital-first businesses, creative teams, and growing organizations adopting modern publishing workflows.

Market growth is driven by increasing demand for collaborative business communication, branded content creation, remote work tools, and visual publishing platforms, with the industry growing at an estimated 12–15% annually.

Business Model

How we make money

Pitchonix operates on a subscription-based SaaS model with tiered pricing for individuals, teams, and enterprises. Revenue streams include premium subscriptions, Pro Templates, advanced export features, team collaboration plans, enterprise workspace solutions, brand management tools, and future marketplace or white-label offerings.

Traction & Metrics

Our progress so far

Rapidly evolving publishing platform with active product development and expanding feature ecosystem
Core systems completed for PDF Studio, Pro Templates, Brand Kits, exports, and publishing workflows
Strong progress toward a scalable block-based publishing architecture and enterprise-ready platform foundation
Early validation through continuous product testing, workflow optimization, and multi-format publishing capabilities
Positioned for beta expansion targeting startups, agencies, consultants, and modern business teams
Key milestones include advanced template systems, export infrastructure, dashboard ecosystem redesign, and next-generation publishing engine development

1,000+

ACTIVE USERS

$50K

MRR

72

NPS SCORE

Aug 2025

Item 1

The Team

Who we are

Founder & Product Lead — Full-stack product developer focused on publishing systems, SaaS platforms, visual document workflows, and scalable business tools

Engineering & Platform Development — Expertise in frontend architecture, backend systems, rendering pipelines, export infrastructure, and modern web technologies

Design & UX Direction — Focused on premium fintech-inspired interfaces, editorial layouts, publishing experiences, and modern SaaS usability

Product Vision — Building a next-generation business publishing ecosystem combining documents, presentations, collaboration, branding, and multi-format publishing workflows

Future expansion plans include strategic advisors in SaaS growth, enterprise publishing, product scaling, and business development

- Alumni from Founder, Product, Lead

Team Member 1

Founder

The Ask

The audience should understand the value and growth potential of Pitchonix and move toward investment, partnership, adoption, or strategic collaboration opportunities.

Pitchonix is seeking an initial funding round to accelerate product development, platform scaling, infrastructure optimization, and market expansion. Funds will primarily be used for engineering, publishing engine development, design systems, export infrastructure, collaboration features, cloud infrastructure, and go-to-market growth including partnerships, onboarding, and customer acquisition.

Item 1

Item 2

Item 3

Item 4

Executive Summary

Key highlights

Competitive Landscape

How we compare

Main competitors include Canva, Pitch, Gamma, Adobe Express, Google Slides, and Notion. While these platforms offer strong design or collaboration capabilities, most are either too presentation-focused, too generic, or lack advanced business publishing workflows, structured document systems, premium editorial layouts, and reliable multi-format export architecture tailored for professional business communication.

Product Roadmap

Where we're going

Launch the next-generation block-based publishing engine with advanced visual layouts and structured document workflows
Expand PDF Studio into a full professional publishing platform with editorial layouts, dynamic grids, and premium template systems
Release collaboration features including comments, version history, team workflows, and shared workspaces
Introduce responsive web publishing and interactive document experiences alongside traditional exports
Scale the template ecosystem with industry-specific Pro Templates, Brand Kits, and advanced design systems
Optimize enterprise-grade export infrastructure for PDF, DOCX, PPTX, and web publishing reliability
Expand analytics, automation, and workspace management capabilities for teams and organizations
Grow into a complete business publishing ecosystem serving startups, agencies, consultants, and enterprise teams globally

Phase 1

Phase 2

Phase 3

Pricing

Simple, transparent pricing

Pitchonix uses a tiered pricing strategy designed for individuals, teams, and enterprises. Plans include a free starter tier, professional subscriptions for advanced publishing and export features, team collaboration plans with shared workspaces and brand kits, and enterprise solutions with custom workflows and scalability support. Average deal sizes increase through team adoption, premium templates, advanced publishing tools, and enterprise workspace expansion, creating scalable recurring revenue and strong long-term customer value.

Starter

$99/mo

- Basic features
- Email support
- 10 users

Professional

$299/mo

- Advanced features
- Priority support
- 50 users

Enterprise

Custom

- All features
- 24/7 support
- Unlimited users